SINGS IN SPAIN

FRINCESS HELPS MISS EDITH HELENA OUT OF TIGHT PLACE.

N. A. Jennings, author, old-time newspaperman, Texas ranger, cowboy, etc., is egistered at the Cullen. Mr Jennings is back in America after four years on the continent as manager for Miss Edith Helena, the American girl with the threectave voice, who is at the Orpheum.

Manager Was Timid.

"It was at Barcelona, Spain, about two years ago, where Miss Helena appeared. Prior to her appearance the manager of the theatre insisted that she be billed as the beautiful English singer. I insisted, however, that unless she were advertised as an American she would not sing. The manager eventually shrugged his shoulders and acquiesced.

"He billed her with a vengeance in red, white and blue all over the city and then sat down to wait for developments. You should have seen that house when the curtain west up."

the curtain went up!

"When Miss Helena made her appearance the storm of hisses, whistles and hoots that greeted her was awful. I looked for her to faint, but she didn't; she simply got her American dander up and sang them down. To cut a long story short, the young dons who came to hoot ended by throwing their boutonieres on the stage and recalling her. After that Miss Helena had things coming her own way. She was the first American to appear in public in Barcelona since the war.

"In Bucharest we won out also. Miss Helena had been singing in the leading music hall there when Count Calagari undertook to put on a gala performance of La Traviata' at the National opera house with Miss Helena in the role of 'Violetta.' The paper was all out and the event adwent to Vienna and then to Brussels, where Miss Fielena sang at the Palais d'Ete for three weeks and then repeated her success in the Grand opera house. Toming home to the hotel that night three drunken English jockeys driving a stylish dog cart ran into us, killing the horse and throwing us all out into the street. I carried Miss Helena into the hotel and was relieved to find that she was more frightened than hurt.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Edwin V. Morgan, the American minister to Cuba, is on the way to his post at Havana. Mr. Morgan unexpectedly joined Secretary Taft and Assistant Secretary of State Bacon in this city just as the train left Washington today. "However, the story got around that she was killed, and those English jockeys had the time of their life. All the police reserves were called out and there was a glorious French riot in full swing in front of the hotel in short order. Eventually the chief of police came up to Miss Helena's room and begged her to show herself on the balcony. This she did and the riot was quelled, but it was a glorious one while it lasted."

During the four years abroad Mr. Jennings, in company with the American soprano, has visited every capital and city of importance in every European country, with the exception of Russia. He is back in America filling a contract made with the Orpheum circuit some time ago, but will return to Brussels in a few months, where Miss Helena joins the Grand Opera company for two years. Leahy, a miner, was killed, and Peter McNulty was very seriously wounded. The two men, accompanied by two other miners, were being hoisted to the surface in a bucket. Before they reached half way to the top, the cross head from the hoist fell from the top of the shaft, striking Leahy on the head and crushing his skull. The heavy timber also struck McNulty a fearful blow. They were both held in the bucket by their companions, but by the time the bucket reached the surface Leahy was dead and McNulty was insensible. The latter is now in a hospital with slight chances of recovery.
